SLOVENIA

The Republic of Slovenia lies at the heart of Europe where the Alps face the Pannonia plains and the Mediterranean meets the mysterious Karst. As a beautiful and picturesque country, Slovenia makes a great tourist destination. Mountains, lakes, waterfalls, forests, caves, hills, plains, rivers and the sea - you name it, you can find it all within the country’s modest 20,273 km², as well as many natural and landscape parks. You can ski in the morning and surrender yourself to the luxury of the Adriatic Sea in the afternoon. Last but not least, Slovenia has 15 natural spas at which you can take care of your health with the help of its thermal mineral waters.

On 25 June 1991 Slovenia declared its independence and began its successful story of transition from socialism to a market economy. Slovenia joined the European Union on 1 May 2004 and introduced the euro on 1 January 2007.

LJUBLJANA

The capital of Slovenia, Ljubljana, is a relatively large central European city situated between the Alps and the Adriatic Sea with approximately 300,000 inhabitants. It is the political and cultural heart of the Slovenian nation and most charming in summer. The visitor’s first impression of Ljubljana is that it is an exceptionally young city as over 50,000 students provide very young vibrations. It is a city of culture and a rich historical legacy which offers all the friendliness of a small town and at the same time everything that a capital city should offer.

FELU

The FELU’s campus is located in the northern part of the capital city of Slovenia and is easily accessible by car or public transport (city bus lines). The FELU’s facilities are well equipped, maintained and adjusted for the accessibility to the needs of people with disabilities (e.g. with sliding doors, ramps etc.). There are four big lecture halls, 46 classrooms, eight computer rooms – six of which are used for teaching purposes, while two of them provide free access to computer facilities to the FELU students. The local computer network links all PCs and allows access to the Internet. Free wireless Internet access is also available on campus.
